

WEEKLY RACE CLASSES

The LATE MODELS feature a great looking stock style template body similar to a NASCAR Cup Series car and are many tracks' top division. The Late Models race at the Kalamazoo Klash with the Outlaw Super Late Models. These cars race on 8" steel racing wheel with a 9" Hoosier slick and can run on either a stock or fabricated chassis. Expect lap times in the 13-14 second range (93-97 MPH). The cost to build a car is in the $25-35,000 range.

The OUTLAW LIMITED LATE MODELS returned to Kalamazoo Speedway in 2024 after an 18 year absence. These cars race on 10" racing wheels with a 9" Hoosier slick. A great looking race car, these Limiteds run a lap in the 13-14 second range, (93-97 MPH). The cost to build a car is in the $25,000 range.

If you are looking for action, keep your eyes on the STREET STOCK, trading paint in nose-to-tail and side-by-side racing around the high banks of the Speedway. These cars are American made, rear-wheel drive with a stock frame and a relatively stock suspension. Powered by 350 or 400 cubic inch Chevrolet engines, you'll see a lot of horsepower a top a smaller tire. Expect lap times in the 14-15 second range (90-96 MPH). The cost to purchase and outfit a car is in the $20-30,000 range.

The FRONT WHEEL DRIVES offer a more affordable yet authentic racing experience for drivers with fewer years of experience than tend to run in the top levels. All cars are front-wheel drive with no convertibles or super/turbo charged engines. Cars must remain stock in their original form and shape, manual or automatic transmissions. Cars may run on Hoosier or DOT tires and are placed in the night's features based on qualifying times. There's an A-B and C feature season champion. Expect lap times in the 15-18 second range (79-90 MPH). Think that's dogging it? Give a thought to how fast that really is on a 3/8 mile oval in traffic. The cost to purchase and outfit a car ranges from $2,500 - 10,000.

Cars illustrating each class are those driven by the 2024 Season Champions (from top to bottom): Billy Shannon, Bryce Bozell, Kyle VanSparrentak, Matthew Elsey Jr. (last year's Outlaw FWD champion) and Scott Elsey (last year's DOT champion).
